

Providing access to all materials that the libraries have.

Complex resources that support deep learning are easy to discover and access

Current emphasis on learning through exploring primary sources will be fully supported with staffing and space.

We are in constant change and we need to recognize that or be left behind. We are already behind!!

Respect

Curiosity

The library should keep alive the traditions of scholarship and academic rigor and make its resources accessible as widely as possible.

Proactively teaching and engaging the student body with an eye towards digital literacy is a major priority of this library.

Primary to the decision making process and actions of the library is diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility

Libraries are the only entity in higher education tasked with providing access to all points of view.

Treat others as you would want to be treated. If this is information, courtesy, cleanliness, etc.

something about how we are committed to meeting the ever-changing research needs of our users, and we want our spaces to be welcoming and to foster creativity and contemplation...

An overarching commitment to diversity, intellectual freedom, and social justice informs the library's collection development work.

Continue to be a library system that provides access that our users need and request, but also be future looking, innovative and explore/present resources and services that inspire or challenge our users to reach even further.

Create a space that fosters academic success and a love of life-long learning for students, but also one that takes into consideration the staff that works here as well.

slido

Write your own core value or "guiding principle" that should dictate our strategic planning

Foster a sense of belonging

We need to keep in mind the wider use of the library - as a study and research area, and as a place for people to interact with one another.

Library collections enhance the teaching and learning experience, and library staff collaborate with faculty and other instructors to further the mission of the college and support research, performance, artistry, and life-long learning.

Transparency Accountability
Transformative
Fun

Slido session has expired
Log in and reactivate the code.

Log in